

Colonel Knox to Accept Nomination Formally Tonight At Chicago

Republican Vice Presidential Nominee Will be Central Figure at Notification Ceremonies at Chicago Stadium.

50,000 TO ATTEND

Hayes Will Introduce John Hamilton, Party Chairman; Steiwer to Give Formal Address.

Chicago, July 30 (AP)—Col. Frank Knox, Chicago newspaper publisher and former Rough Rider, takes to the center of the political stage tonight to accept the Republican Vice Presidential nomination and amplify the party's 1936 challenge.

The Chicagoan will be notified officially in ceremonies beginning at 7:30 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time) at the big Chicago Stadium, one of the world's largest covered auditoriums.

His speech in reply was expected by party leaders to be the second half of the Republican Party's statement of aims in the current campaign, and an outline of what it will do if installed in place of the Democratic administration.

It will supplement the 45 minute address delivered last week in Topeka by his running mate, Gov. Alf. M. Landon of Kansas.

The ceremonies will last about two and one half hours. The principal oratory will be heard by some 50,000 on the scene, in the estimation of Chairman Chauncey McCormick, and by millions of radio listeners.

Partly in honor of Col. Knox's service in the Spanish-American and World Wars, the committee on arrangements designed a motif of "Americanism, constitutionalism, and the flag" for the notification ceremonies.

The intention, McCormick said, was also aimed at signifying the party's stand on "an American way" of government.

The rectangular auditorium was hung with flags and bunting for the occasion. A fan-shaped stage was erected in the east end to accommodate some 600 Republican leaders, and distinguished guests, including Illinois candidates.

A second stage was set up outside the building. When the program opens, two casts of stage, radio and opera stars will perform on both stages for an officially expected attendance of 25,000 inside and the other for those on the outside.

At 8:45 o'clock the candidates will be escorted to the Stadium by the notification committee.

Edward A. Hayes, of Decatur, Ill., former national commander of the American Legion, will introduce the Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican National Committee, who has the pre-convention campaign manager for Col. Knox.

Hamilton will introduce Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, keynote of the National Convention, who will make the address formally notifying Col. Knox that he is the party's choice.

Then about 9:30 o'clock Col. Knox will respond.

Party notables assigned to places on the platform include former Vice President Charles C. Dawes of Chicago, chairman of the Honorary Executive Committee for the event, and a number from many sections of the nation.

Wyoming Prediction

Topeka, Kas., July 30 (AP)—Two Wyoming ranchmen, after conferring with Gov. Alf. M. Landon, predicted today he would carry their state.

"There is a tremendous sentiment for Landon wherever there are stockmen," Elmer Brock and Frank Horton of Buffalo, Wyo., told reporters. Predictions that Landon would carry New York and Ohio were left by the Republican presidential committee by William J. Donovan and William M. Chadbourne of New York, and Hubert Taft, editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, who were Landon's guests of the governor yesterday.

"Stockmen are for Landon," Brock said, "because of the antipathy of the present administration to the livestock industry, as shown by the reciprocal trade agreements and the apparent desire to import South American beef despite the danger of possible infection from the beef-and-mouth disease."

Donovan, who was Gov. Herbert H. Lehman's Republican opponent in 1932, said "Landon" were the chief issue in his home, Buffalo, N. Y., where Landon will speak next month.

Landon's itinerary and subjects have not been announced.

Landon's schedule was tight today. He had a noon appointment with a delegation of representatives of peace organizations, accompanied by Sen. Arthur Capper of Kansas, the group included Dorothy Denzer, secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and Mrs. Raymond Clapper, secretary of the People's Mandate to Governments to End War.

The Kansas governor will go to Jun. City Saturday to review the annual National Guard encampment, and next Tuesday he will drive to his home, Independence, to vote in the primary.

Thorpe's Post-Marital Loves Recounted by Nursemaid in Court

DR. FRANKLIN THORPE.

Los Angeles, July 30 (AP)—A nursemaid's story of Dr. Franklin Thorpe's four post-marital loves was set up today against his charge that Mary Astor, screen beauty, admitted having a lover named "George" before their divorce.

No sooner had the Hollywood physician filed an affidavit citing the actress' alleged diary confession of an illicit romance than Nursemaid Nellie Richardson started her sensational disclosures from the witness stand.

An attendant to the Thorpes' four-year-old daughter, Marilyn, Miss Richardson was called in Miss Astor's fight to regain the child's custody, surrendered to Dr. Thorpe when he divorced her 15 months ago. The divorce was obtained under threats to "scandalize" her, the actress asserts.

Retires in Diary

Supporting the physician's charges that his ex-wife was a person of "gross immoral conduct," his affidavit offered diary entries which Miss Astor allegedly wrote in February, 1935.

These read:

"I love George and the least I can do is to save him from a messy scandal. Maybe I am being foolishly gallant, but maybe also I can do one nice thing in my life."

"For the sake of peace and respect to all this emotionalism I told him (Dr. Thorpe) I would do nothing at present. My main reason for saying that is quite honestly, I want to be able to see George for the rest of his stay here without being all upset. I want to have the last few times of completely enjoying him, then when he has left town I can start in again. I must go through with this."

"Later on I can move to have the custody of (Marilyn) changed over to me. It would be very hard for him (Dr. Thorpe) to bring up an old affair against me."

Studied Photographs

Miss Richardson, on the stand, studied three photographs of Dr. Thorpe and a blonde young woman in close embrace.

"Do you recognize that girl?" asked the attorney, Roland Rich Woolley.

"That's Norma Taylor."

"Was she ever at the house while Dr. Thorpe, the child, and you were living there?"

"Oh, yes, several times. Many times rather."

"Did she ever stay there all night?"

"She usually did," the nurse replied in a chilly voice.

"When she stayed overnight, where did you find her in the morning?"

"In the bedroom upstairs."

"Was that the same bedroom Dr. Thorpe occupied?"

"Yes, it was."

Woolley then established that this bedroom was connected by a short hallway to the one in which the baby slept.

"Now, how many beds were in the doctor's room?"

"There were two."

"And when you made them up in the morning, were they both rumpled?"

Paris, July 30 (AP)—Rebel fleets, undaunted by explosion and destruction, were reported organized today into a "battalion of death."

Gen. Queipo de Llano, Fascist commander at Seville, announced formation of the "Volunteers of Death" in a broadcast received here.

The pilots are ready to take aloft planes full of explosives, he said, and hurl the ships into Liberal encampments and strongholds.

General de Llano declared his columns had achieved new successes on all fronts in Huelva province in the southwest. The territory is completely subjugated, he asserted.

(The fall into rebel hands of the important cities of Huelva and Ayamonte was reported in a broadcast received in Lisbon, Portugal.)

Government troops in Galicia have been defeated, the broadcast declared, wresting Corunna, Lugo, Ordesa and Pontevedra provinces from the Liberals.

The insurgent march on Madrid from the south is progressing satisfactorily, General Llano added.

Seizure of 15,000,000 pesetas (approximately $2,000,000) was reported at Vich near Barcelona in the Episcopal palace adjoining the historic 11th century cathedral.

Two barns were destroyed together with a Fordson tractor, a Brockway truck and farm implements which were in the barn.

The Cottrell fire department responded but the Kingston department was already on the scene and the limited amount of water at hand left little the Cottrell department could do.

The local department returned at 6:50 o'clock.

FIRST REFUGEE REACHES NEW YORK FROM SPAIN

New York, July 30 (AP)—Miss Alvera Cobanks of New York returned from Spain today to say she was heading at once for her farm near Danbury, Conn., to pull weeds and recover her equilibrium.

Miss Cobanks is the first American refugee from the Spanish rebellion to reach the United States. Among her experiences was that of being trapped in a cellar bar-room in Seville four days while Liberals and Fascists battled on the street outside.

The American girl was one of 20 guests in the Hotel Cristina in Seville who took refuge in the bar when the fighting broke out July 18.

H. M. S. Shamrock rescued the trapped foreigners, taking them to Gibraltar.

Glens Falls, N. Y., July 30 (AP)—The United States has "the largest record of criminal background data of any nation in the world," R. Edwin Sackett, of Buffalo, chief of department of justice agents in upstate New York, declared in an address prepared for delivery here today.

Sackett's speech was on the final day's program of the annual convention of the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police.

Sackett visualized the time "when the complete depredations of every living criminal will be known through his fingerprints."

Salt Lake City, July 30 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, the engineer, is in the market for a "gold mine," Mark Regus, former California Republican national committee chairman, in Salt Lake City on a business visit, said the former president would be "very active" back in his old profession of engineering "if he could find a promising mine."

Regus accompanied Mr. Hoover on an inspection of a copper mine at Mountain City, Nevada, this week, before the former chief executive and his son, Allen, headed into Idaho to the.

Fire Destroys 2 Barns On Miller Property Early Today At Marbletown

Work of Excelsior Hose Co. Equipment, Sent Out to Assist, Saves Large House From Ravages of the Flames.

MACHINES LOST

Limited Water Renders Cottrell Department Practically Unable to Help at Scene.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed two barns on the Mrs. Katherine Oliver Miller property at Marbletown this morning and the prompt arrival of the Kingston fire department after it had been summoned, prevented the blaze from communicating to the fine large house on the property.

The Kingston Department sent the Excelsior Hose pumper with two paid firemen out to the scene and the fire was stopped at a small out house which stood between the house and the barns which were destroyed. The small building was partially destroyed.

At 3:20 o'clock the local department responded to a call for aid and the Excelsior equipment was sent out by Chief Murphy. When the fire apparatus arrived nothing could be done to save the barns, but the booster pump was hooked up to the truck tank and water was pumped from a cistern on the premises.

With the limited amount of water available the firemen were successful in extinguishing the fire in the small building near the house. This building was damaged but there was no damage by fire to the house which is known locally as the "House with the Seven Gables."

Two barns were destroyed together with a Fordson tractor, a Brockway truck and farm implements which were in the barn.

The Cottrell fire department responded but the Kingston department was already on the scene and the limited amount of water at hand left little the Cottrell department could do.

The local department returned at 6:50 o'clock.

Disposition of Village

Disposition of the $1,500,000 model village at Quoddy would be decided this week, he said.

He said he would discuss mutual development of hydro-electric power and the proposed St. Lawrence waterway in his conference tomorrow with Premier MacKenzie King and Lord Tweedsmuir, Canada's governor general.

On his way up Passamaquoddy Bay to St. Andrews, N. B., Mr. Roosevelt will view the Quoddy project and its $1,500,000 model village from the yacht Potomac.

He will leave St. Andrews by special train tonight for Quebec and spend tomorrow in that city.

On his way back to Hyde Park, N. Y., Saturday the President will leave his train for a motor tour of flood control projects and for conferences on flood prevention with governors in Vermont, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

Arriving in Hyde Park late Saturday night, he will spend the greater part of the first week in August at the family estate. He then will return to Washington and after a brief stay make one or two tours of areas damaged by spring floods in southern New York, northern and western Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Late in August or early in September he will make his long planned trip to the northwest drought area to see what progress has been made with federal relief efforts.

Roosevelt Declares "Quoddy" Power Job "Will Be Completed"

Campobello Island, N. B., July 30 (AP)—After declaring the $40,000,000 Passamaquoddy tide-harnessing power project "will be completed," President Roosevelt made ready to leave late today for Quebec to discuss possibilities of joint American-Canadian power developments at Quoddy and on the St. Lawrence river.

Speaking to members of the summer colony and townsfolk from Eastport and other Maine cities, the President said late yesterday:

"Quoddy will be completed. I believe in Quoddy, and I believe you do too."

The occasion was an informal reception on the lawn of Mr. Roosevelt's summer cottage. He reaffirmed his belief in the feasibility of the project started with $7,000,000 of WPA funds but abandoned when Congress refused to authorize money for its continuance.

He said it would be necessary to educate the people of the United States and Canada to the mutual benefits he believes would be derived before joint action were taken and that action by Congress and the Canadian Parliament might be necessary in event of an international agreement.

At a press conference on the sands on the Bay of Fundy shore of Campobello, the President reiterated that power could be usefully transmitted to New England from Quoddy.

He added in response to questions, however, that he could not proceed with American development there unless Congress authorized it and that meanwhile 5,000 workers who had been employed on the project would have to be given other relief jobs.

N. Y. WORLD'S FAIR RISING FROM ANCIENT ASH HEAP

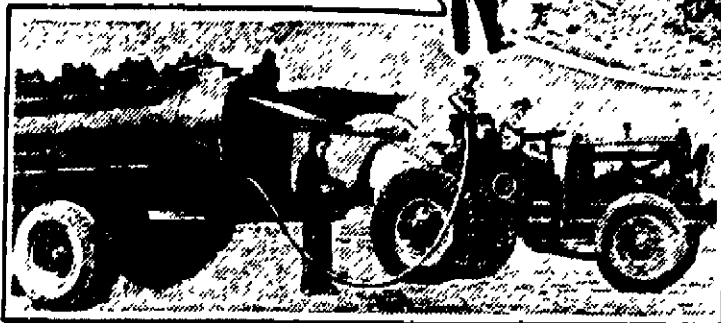

Excavation Task a Terrible Test of Men and Machines

Top: Some of the 180 automotive machines creating a World's Fair out of an ash heap

Right: The gasoline shovels must move 33 yards a minute day and night.

Below: A tank truck servicing one of the machines. They will use 1,500,000 gallons of lubricated gasoline.

by LATTIMER SHAW

A battle of 800 men and 180 gasoline driven machines against time to turn a 1,000 acre ash dump into a level site for hundreds of beautiful buildings has begun as the start of the great World's Fair to be held at Flushing, Long Island, by the City of New York in 1939, which will bring millions of people to America's biggest city.

The battle of ash will go on 24 hours a day until April 1, 1937. If the race against time is won it will constitute a record for this type of work. It will cost $2,200,000. The men and their $750,000 worth of modern automotive equipment must remove 6,000,000 square yards of dry material and 1,500,000 yards of mud. During the process, hundreds of foot hills of ash will be leveled and 875 foot gullies filled and a tidal river 16 feet deep will be eliminated and turned into a series of gleaming lagoons for motor boat races, swimming exhibitions and other aquatic events dear to the hearts of fair goers.

This tremendous grading job constitutes one of the most terrible ordeals to which gasoline motors have ever been subjected because, for ten months, summer and winter, they must operate continuously, 24 hours a day. It will be equivalent to starting an automobile and not stopping it for 300 days. It was for this reason that there was selected for the job, and with no attempt to skimp on cost, only the most modern, rugged and scientific machinery, fuel, lubricating oil and greases. When the task is completed the gasoline shovels, self dumping trucks, graders and other machines will have passed through a trial almost unprecedented in motor history.

The long hours and the varying conditions of temperature under which the equipment must operate appeared to the engineers to be similar to those encountered by the two Byrd Antarctic Expeditions and the 900,000 mile service to six years of the Graf Zeppelin and now the new Hindenburg. Therefore the same oil and greases employed by Admiral Byrd on both his South Pole Expeditions and the German engineers in the Graf Zeppelin and Hindenburg were specified for the World's Fair job—Veelol motor oil and grease made by the Tide Water Oil Company. And the same company's Tydol gasoline, which drove Byrd's planes and tractors for 85,000 miles over the icy Antarctic wastes in operating all the motor equipment at Flushing Storage facilities have been set up and half a dozen high speed pumps, served daily by tank trucks. To service the continuously operating machines in the field a fleet of small or tank trucks is in use on carefully worked out schedules.

An indication of the speed with which New York's World's Fair is coming into being lies in the schedule on which the city's ancient ash dump is being excavated—23 yards per minute, day in and day out around the clock.

GET GULFLUBE— It's "Stripped for action"!

This sprinter can't win races hampered by this stuff! Cheap, poorly refined motor oils are likewise hampered by waste material—carbon, gum and sludge-formers—that should be removed by further refining.

Now he's hampered—but not entirely free. Likewise, most 25c oils are rid of some excess waste material—but not enough. For real Gulf purified in Multi-oil process, a thoroughly refined 25c oil was not available.

Here's the sprinter "stripped for action."—like GULFLUBE MOTOR OIL. Stripped of all excess waste by Multi-oil refining. Gulflube is the finest 25c oil in America! Absolutely premium quality oil, "all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste." Try a filling—at the sign of the Orange Disc.

RELIEF FRAUDS.

Of course there are chiselers on relief and loafers on relief work. But it is well to be honest and specific about these things, rather than indulge in blanket condemnation and ridicule of decent beneficiaries whose lot is already hard enough. Margaret Johnson, of the American Association of Social Workers, writes in a letter to the public:

From our daily experience we are convinced that the great majority want jobs instead of relief. They are men and women who have worked all their lives, and who have taken to charity as a last resort. When PWA was inaugurated they stormed the relief offices to get work. They have continued to plead for jobs at every opportunity. Offer them work which will pay enough to maintain even a bare minimum of subsistence, and they will jump at the opportunity.

There are undoubtedly some persons receiving relief who should not receive it. The local relief organizations are constantly watching for such persons and removing them from the relief loads. We agree that every effort should be made to discover who they are, and to cut them from the rolls. May we submit, however, that the number of such persons has been greatly exaggerated?

She explains that social "visitors" with 125 to 150 families to account for cannot possibly check all the details, and "if chiselers are to be cut off, the community must co-operate." This demand is reasonable. When people complain of cases of cheating known to themselves or their friends, the logical reply is "Have you informed the relief authorities?" They want and need such information.

One frequent abuse of public charity comes from many people, particularly old folks, continuing on relief when their own relatives become able to help them. Neither local nor federal charity can continue carrying all this burden. Private generosity and duty must assume it again, as business and employment improve.

FAST ROADBUILDING

Continuous, straightline production has reached the paving industry. Pavement is reeled out almost like sheet steel from an automatic mill. The process is said to be working miracles in the "face-lifting" of highways left in bad condition by last winter's frost. Machinery just rolls along laying many miles of roadway a day, and it hardens so quickly that the road can be used 10 minutes after it is laid. The materials are mixed right on the roadbed. A newspaper's description explains:

"The old surface is first swept clean. Then it is given a thin coating of asphalt, covered with crushed rock of uniform depth and sprayed with asphalt, and sand is spread over the top. Then a mixing machine propelled by a huge tractor comes along and scoops up these materials, mixes them in a large hopper and, while moving steadily along, re-spreads the mixture evenly over half the road. This is rolled and can be driven over immediately."

The paving time is cut to less than one-third. There is no obstruction of traffic or closing of the road while the job is being done, except the local blocking of one side of the road where the moving machinery is at work.

INDUSTRIAL CHANGES

The practice of giving wage workers vacations with pay is spreading. Is a number of insurance workers employed on an hourly basis are to receive the same treatment as clerical help who have long had paid vacations. There are other interesting industrial changes. One is the installation of a great plant manufacturing covers of an air-conditioning system in the Island mill. This is believed to be the first application of modern temperature regulation to a large plant. The company which is pioneering in this respect also follows a good example already set in a number of industries, stabilizing its formerly seasonal work. July and August have always been dull months. January and February have been months of peak production. Beginning this summer, the company is continuing the normal production rate right through the slack period. The summer surplus will help meet the winter demand, making it unnecessary to speed up production then.

This elimination of the slumps and peaks of production, pioneers in the practice have learned, works out to the advantage of the company as well as its workers. Much more of this sort of thing is to be expected in industry.

OLYMPIC TORCH.

A picturesque preliminary to the Olympic games was the bearing of a lighted torch from Olympia, scene of the original games, to Berlin, scene of this year's contests. At noon on July 20, the sun's rays, focused through a magnifying glass, lighted a torch at Olympia. A Greek runner seized the blazing emblem and started running toward the northwest. Relays of runners, chosen from the seven lands through which they passed, carried the torch forward. The final runner, a German, will carry it on August 1 to the stadium in Berlin and will there light the sacred flame for the eleventh Olympic festival of modern times.

Europe needs some other runners to carry the torch of civilization to all its capitals and to rekindle an apparently dying flame. Or maybe a fire-extinguisher to put out the glowing war fuses would be better.

TREATING ACNE—PIMPLES

It is most unfortunate that so many of our boys and girls so conscious of their appearance as they emerge into manhood and womanhood should be afflicted with acne or pimples. Despite attention to cleanliness, care of food eaten, regularity of bowel movement and other health habits the pimples persist sometimes until the victims reach 30 years of age.

Fortunately many cases are now being cured by the viosterol treatment, the use of X-ray, cutting down on fat and starchy food, the use of ointments containing mercury or zinc and other methods.

Most skin specialists advise that when the pimples are large and contain pus, this pus should be forced out by the means of the little instruments which can be obtained in drug stores.

It is interesting therefore to read of another method advised by Dr. A. Skutta, Leipzig, which is known as the suction method. While the diet, the glands, and other factors may cause acne, Dr. Skutta states that if the acne is treated carefully better results will be obtained and there will be fewer and smaller scars left on the skin.

As it is the obstruction of the opening of the gland that causes the swelling up of the pimple, this obstruction should be removed. Instead of squeezing out the pus, it should be withdrawn by means of suction or vacuum treatment. He uses various forms of cups to remove the blackheads and pus and to allay inflammation.

The suction apparatus can be operated with the water vacuum pump or with an electric pump. He has had three years' experience with the pump combined with the usual treatment and finds that it produces good results and leaves the skin in better condition than by other methods.

As water power or electric power pumps are available for other purposes—suction, tonics—cups for use in acne should be available.

However, the other treatments must also be used—diet, X-ray, viosterol, mercury and other ointments, and the gland extracts. If good results are to be obtained in this miserable ailment.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marion Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol Torrance has left Meredith, Pa., which is her home town, and gone to teach in the Ashboro, Pa., high school. It was a surprise to her family, but not to her friends. She has spent one day in Ashboro, and made one friend. Mary Ellen Sander Carol believes that a year of teaching may be possible, but she does not intend that it shall interfere with a career in other and bigger things. The career is pretty vague in Carol's mind, however.

Chapter Six
ANOTHER DAY

CAROL woke next morning to a knock at her door. Someone, Mrs. O'Connor said through the door in a thin, pleased voice, wanted her on the telephone. She slipped on a robe and went to answer the call.

"Carol?"
 "Yes."

"This is Ben Tyler. Why in the devil don't you let somebody know where you are? I been phoning everywhere."

She gave an instant to remembering about Ben Tyler. The town bachelor, short and plump and in curiously romantic—so long as the recipient of his attentions was very new. She was warmly grateful for his interest because it re-established her as a woman instead of a teacher.

"Darling, I hadn't had time. That

ELLEN was in the living-room with her hat on, experimenting with the radio.

"What church do you go to?" she asked.

Carol shrugged. "I was born an Episcopalian. What about you?"

"Presbyterian."

"Then we'll go there. It's closest."

The rear half of the church was well filled; the front half empty except for a very old lady with an acousticon. The minister was an earnest young man with a mind as orderly and conventional as his appearance. Aided by his notes he preached a neat and orderly sermon, punctuating intervals upon his original premise with the vigor of a fat robin on a worm. At the last he tied all the ends of his discourse into a neat and ornamental bow of rhetoric and tossed it to the congregation.

The sermon was over, and the minister was pronouncing beautiful, singing words: "And now may the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ rest and abide upon you all, and upon all God's people everywhere..."

Mr. Hudson was at the door, beaming upon the world. The minister, whose name was Mr. Williams, was beside him, waiting to extend the right hand of fellowship. He was delighted, he said, to welcome Carol and Ellen into his

"What church do you go to?" asked Ellen.

was the sort of thing Ben liked. "I only lit yesterday afternoon, and last night I was received into the fold. How are you?"

"Never felt better and had less. When'll I see you?"

"I don't know. When?"

"Well—have you had any breakfast? If not, you've missed it."

Her watch said half past nine. "Oh, Lord, so I have."

"Get your clothes on then, and I'll take you to the Acropolis Cafe. A poor thing, but our own—and only. Ten o'clock?"

Ben Tyler was almost unchanged in four years. A little more stomach and a little less hair, but otherwise the same. He squeezed her hand and beamed at her.

"Younger and better looking than ever."

She smiled. "When a gal gets to the age where you feel impelled to comment on her youthfulness, don't do it. Ben, it's grand to see you."

It was Ben seemed to bring with him the odor of gay days when she was a visiting girl. He put her in his venerable roadster and clattered away.

"The old gang held a jubilee when we heard you were coming."

"How are they all?"

"Oh, joggling along."

They went in the Acropolis Cafe and sat at a marble-topped table. Carol ordered breakfast and Ben decided to have another cup of coffee. Then she said:

"Something tells me that jubilees will be out of my orbit. I've got the young manhood and womanhood of America looking to me."

He grinned. "They could show you things, honey. Besides, teaching's not that bad; all you have to do is use moderation and keep your mouth shut."

That was a relief.

Ben was lying on his stomach, absorbing the last rays of the sun. He grimaced. "It was built right after you left, when they still called the late unpleasantness a Temporary Flurry. The only reason we're still got it is because it's practically impossible to repossess a swimming pool."

"Thank goodness for that." She stretched and got up reluctantly. "Much as I hate it, I'll have to go. We eat supper at six o'clock."

"Oh, that's all right. We'll get sandwich out here. Sit down and relax and I'll get a Tom Collins in a little while."

"I'd better tread lightly, and take my departure in a more private place, thanks. It's been heavenly. Ben."

He grinned and got up. "Oh, all right. And while I think of it, there's a dance Friday night. Go with me?"

She nodded. "Of course. A dance would be something to cling to during this first official week."

Carol had, however, not been with Ben Tyler.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO

July 30, 1916.—Fred Nelson, a farm hand employed on the farm of Charles Lay, drowned in Ecopus creek.

Residence of P. D. McKee on South Manor avenue, hamletized. An excursion of several hundred persons aboard the steamer Trojan, coming from Albany to Kingston Point, not permitted to land, owing to infantile paralysis epidemic throughout the state.

July 30, 1924.—Arnold Therman, 25, a native of Switzerland, drowned at Lake Katrine.

Education board appointed James Gorman, Alexander Weiss and Patrick Lloyd as school janitors for probationary period of three months.

John Marley of Wrentham street died.

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Diller, of Flushing, L. I., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Diller's mother, Mrs. Anner Longyear.

The Misses Cella and Edna Marmon, of Bellaire, L. I., are at the Marmon cottage in the village center this week.

Mrs. Amelia Stouthaul and son, William, of Brooklyn, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barringer.

John Secor, Tonche Mountain dairy farmer, is cutting hay on the Andrew Krott place.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo McCune and Miss Vera Waterstein, of Brooklyn, spent the week-end at the Wallerstein summer home here.

Dr. and Mrs. Hans J. Cohn attended the opening of a new swimming pool at the Hellman mountain home near Boiceville Monday evening.

Miss Bertha Green is one of the few property holders whose apple trees are well loaded with fruit this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Terhune, Jr., and daughters, of New York, spent Sunday night and Monday at the Shokan House on the corner.

County road construction work is continuing in the Tonche neighborhood. A county shovel is expected on the job this week.

There is no local ordinance regulating the wearing of "shorts" in the village, and many summer visitors are making the most of this freedom.

New York people at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bell this week are Mrs. Joseph Casablanca and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Tanna Casablanca, together with the latter's daughter, Angela.

Fresh eggs are in lively demand, there being, in fact, not enough of them to go around among the summer visitors. Country butter also finds a ready market at home, and several farmers' wives are doing well with this product. Both cylinder and the old-fashioned barrel churn are used in butter-making, while in some families, where only one cow is kept, the small glass churns are found to give pretty fair satisfaction for this purpose.

July 30, 1865, the marriage took place of Charles Edward Soper, Olive, to Marie Catherine Rosepaugh, Hurley. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. E. Church, and the witnesses were Sarah Davis and Amelia Wands. The old Soper place of 38 acres was located along the Plank Road, a few hundred years east of the present Ashokan Railroad station.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barringer include the following Springfield, Mass., residents: Mr. and Mrs. Krause and son, Teddy, and the Misses Helen, Grace and Virginia Teas.

Milk finds a ready sale here this summer, more of the bottled product being sold at the store than during any previous season.

Mrs. Raymond Cruthers and children of Ridgefield, Conn., home opposite the Shokan schoolhouse, are at the Cruthers' country home.

The waters of the west basin of the reservoir continue to recede daily, exposing more and more of the floor of the basin. The aerator, running at full force, never looked more beautiful than at this time.

Mrs. F. Morrison, of Boiceville, was a caller in the village Sunday. Elmer Bedell, who rented his house to H. F. Grumme, is residing temporarily at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Leah Van Benschoten.

Herbert A. Dibbell, of New York, spent the week-end at his place here. Charles Green has a fine young peach orchard of bearing age. Mr. Green has been growing peaches successfully for many years.

Mrs. Joseph Naughton, of Mt. Vernon, was a guest Monday at the Shokan House. Mrs. Naughton together with other members of her family will make their usual vacation stay here in August.

Members of the reservoir maintenance force are making repairs to the pavement of the south boulevard between the Sansonville road and the main dam.

Guests at the Longyear House on the old state road are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Woodhaven, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Clancy and children, Joan and Donald; Mr. and Mrs. J. Jacob and daughter, Edith, Bogota, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Walter Flushing, L. I.; Miss Minnie C. Cook, Queens; Frank Bush, St. Albans, L. I.; and Charles Butte, Jr., Boonton, N. J. The Longyear House is booked full to Labor Day. Of the persons mentioned above, Frank Bush is a former father kept a store and hotel.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church will hold their August meeting next Wednesday afternoon at the church hall. This is the last meeting of the Aid before their annual fair and supper.

Mr. Philip Chopay of Springfield, L. I., came to Shokan Monday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gilles.

The cabins of Arthur Myers and Burris Wheat's Mountain Valley Cottage, were filled to capacity with guests over the week-end. The boarding season undoubtedly is the best in many years.

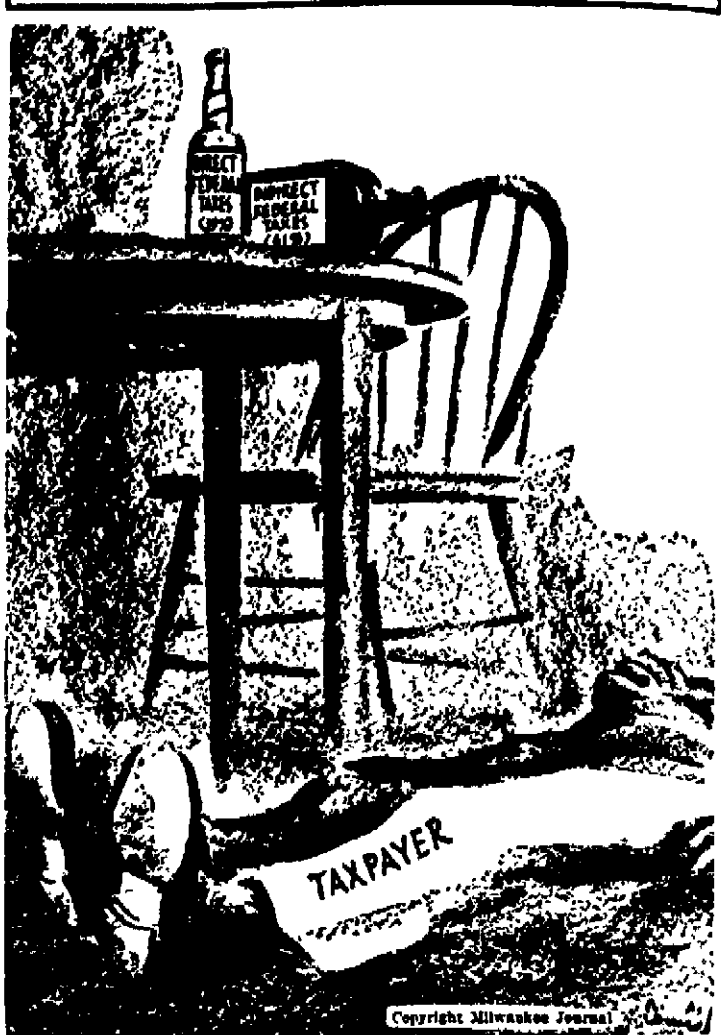

William Tuckling, Jr., one of the enterprising young farmers, is selling some of his young pigs.

Local physicians report having had many aggravated cases of bee stings this summer. Heretofore appears to be nothing lower than usual, a number of them having been disturbed by rakes and snowing machines during recent haymaking operations. Generally, these very insects hang their homes in trees at a height all too convenient for bumping into on a dark night.

Joseph Block of Brooklyn is spending a vacation at the home of Joseph Reddy in the village. Mr. Block is a regular summer visitor to Shokan.

Twenty-seven outstanding mountain climbers from the United States are now attempting to scale some of the highest and most difficult peaks in the Canadian Rockies. The climbers are under canvas with the Alpine Club of Canada which is holding its first annual camp in the Bryant Valley, within climbing territory, and an area so new that much of it has not been mapped.

IT'S THE STUFF IN THE BLACK BOTTLE THAT KNOCKS HIM OUT

TALKS TO PARENTS

By BROOKER PETERS CHURCH
 Henry was what is called in country districts a "old-fashioned." He was a good boy. He never mused or spotted his clothes, never went out of bounds or ran away to go swimming. His hands were invariably clean, his pocket always showed the end of an immaculate handkerchief. He went to bed on time without being told, was prompt at meals and at school. His lessons were always well prepared. He was a model child, and a comfort to parents and teachers alike.

Poor Henry! One dreamed that he was a problem child, or that he was destined to lead a twilight and unsatisfied existence. He grew up colorless, unable to make his way, always shoved into the background by more aggressive companions.

Girls took him for granted. They accepted his courtesies and attentions, liked him, and forgot about him. Boys respected him, but never made friends with him. He was as unobtrusive as the paper on the wall and his life was as dull.

It is because the good child offers no immediate problems that he is neglected. Parents and teachers alike forget that his very goodness, his submissiveness, his lack of audacity and aggressiveness are a problem of the worst kind. Somehow he must learn to assert himself, to enter into the struggle of life if he is ever to make himself felt.

Henry's kind of goodness was not a positive, but a negative quality. He was never tempted to be anything but good, and the result of such a line of development is bound to produce a cipher.

Such a child should be encouraged to rebel, should have the routine of his daily life frequently broken, his habits interfered with. If in spite of this he is good, all right. He can then go far. But it is well to be sure that he is not merely following the line of least resistance.

Killed When Two Moons.
 Sheridan, Wyo., July 30 (AP).—Morris Popper, 49, White Plains, N. Y., attorney, was killed late yesterday when a tire on his automobile blew out near Cadiz, Wyo., 40 miles east of here. Popper was en route home with his wife, two children and a friend, Mrs. Carol Greenbaum, after a trip through Yellowstone National Park. His daughter, Leah, 14, suffered a broken arm and collar bone. Mrs. Popper and Mrs. Greenbaum escaped injury.

Sundown Stories

By MARY GRAMER BONNER
 WILLY NILLY had planned to meet the city animals on the outskirts of the city with his automobile. "I think I had better go along, too," quacked Mrs. Quacko. "They might like to hear of my cool pond."

So Mrs. Quacko got in the seat beside Willy Nilly.

They went a long, long, long distance and reached the city nearest Puddle Muddle.

There was Christopher Columbus Crow and with him were three dogs, four cats and a number of pigeons. They all climbed into the automobile and Christopher whispered to Willy Nilly:

"I haven't delivered any more notes. I thought we'd have a few at a time."

"Much the best way," said Willy Nilly. And they were off for Puddle Muddle.

The visiting animals were all and hungry and in decidedly scrappy mood.

"Are there any alleys?" asked the cats. "We like to sing at night. Are there any excitement?"

"Plenty of them," said Willy Nilly. "You're all to camp out on our land and we're going to make you feel strong and well."

But Willy Nilly was feeling a trifle nervous about the cats. There were many birds around Puddle Muddle and he gave each cat a collar to wear with little bells attached. In fact, all the Christmas bells from the Big Box That Held Things Just For Fun had been used.

"We're here!" shouted Willy Nilly at last.

"Isn't it dull?" exclaimed the visiting animals.

In County Granges

Plattekill.
A regular meeting of Plattekill Grange was held in the Grange Hall on Saturday evening, July 25.
The theme of the Lecturer's program was entitled "Home Economics" with Mrs. Edward Hartney, Mrs. Nelson Edges, Mrs. Donald Weaver, Mrs. George Slati, and Elizabeth Foster in charge. The following program was presented:

Mrs. Charles Everett, chairman of state service and hospitality committee also spoke.
There was a stunt between teams of men and women in needle threading, which resulted in much amusement.
Original poem written by Mrs. Nelson Edges, "Soliloquy of a Housewife" read by Mrs. William Nabor.
"Honeybees," a pantomime, was presented by Bessie Harris, Nelson Edges and Arthur Foster. The closing number was "Home Sweet Home" by Grange with a tableau posed by John Crittenden, Mrs. William Nabor, Mrs. Edward Coy, Bobbie Miller.
Hosts and hostesses Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newkirk, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sheeley, Kate, Mary, and Robert Jansen, Mr. and Mrs. John Roach, Mrs. B. A. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. H. Decker, Dr. and Mrs. Merrill.

Clintonville.
The regular meeting of Clintonville Grange, No. 987, was held on Monday evening in charge of Worthy Master Howard Simpson of Clintonville at the Grange Hall. The meeting was opened with the singing of the song, "Greetings Strong". There were 37 members present. A letter was read asking the Grange to send the worthy lecturer, Mrs. Elsie Ackhart, to the Middle Atlantic States Lecturers conference to be held in College Park, Maryland, on August 11 and 14. The annual picnic of all the Granges of Ulster county is to be held in Forest Park in Kingston on July 30. At this time there will be horseshoe pitching and the guest speaker will be Timothy Thomas. A prize will be given to the person coming the farthest to attend the picnic and all are requested to register at the registration booth as soon as they arrive the morning of the picnic. Everyone is requested to bring a covered dish and sandwiches sufficient to feed their family attending the picnic. There was one visitor present from Plattekill. A report of the service and hospitality committee relative to the fair showed $89 was turned over to the Grange. The committee consists of Mrs. Hilda Simpson, chairman, Mrs. Vida Sutton, Mrs. Irene Slickler, Mrs. Lillian Elliot, Mrs. Katherine Schepmoen, Mrs. Emma Palmer, Mrs. Lillian Slickler, Mrs. Elizabeth Bernard and Mrs. Leona York. A vote of thanks was given the committee for its splendid work. A letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. Vida Sutton, who has been ill at her home with pneumonia. Her many friends were glad to hear that she is again able to be about.
The literary program was opened with the singing of "School Days" by the members of the Grange. This was followed by a reading, "The Trip of Your Life" by Worthy Lecturer Mrs. Ackhart. The spelling contest consisted of 100 words dictated by Mrs. Ackhart and written on the papers. During intermission between the first and second fifty words, Mrs. Ackhart read a little item in a paper about a Mexican Grange conducting a penny sale. The question was asked if $40 was realized from a penny sale now much could be realized from a nickel sale? This was food for thought. Contestants exchanged papers with their neighbors and corrections were made after which they were returned to the owners and they were to take the first letter of each word and make a paragraph from them which would read "Spelling bee is the literary program for our Grange meeting Monday, July 20, 1936." Mrs. George Hartshorn of Modena was awarded a brush and coat hanger combination for first prize. She had only five words wrong. The second prize of a Webster's dictionary went to Mrs. Kenneth Watson, who had eight errors, and third prize of a box of candy went to Mrs. Carrie Ackhart, with eleven errors.

At the close of the meeting refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served by a committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. William Barrett, Jr. and Mrs. Kenneth Watson, George Langwick and Ralph Langwick and Miss Mary Langwick.
The next regular meeting of Clintonville Grange will be held on August 3, in the Grange Hall, with Master Howard Simpson presiding. At that time the literary program will be in charge of the dramatic committee with Mrs. Florence Minard in charge. Assisting Mrs. Minard will be Miss Elizabeth Bernard, Miss Irene Slickler, Myron Ronk, Kenneth Watson, Winfield Jenkins, George Ronk, Miss Lucy Ellis, Miss Helena Terwilliger and Russell Minard. No definite program has been decided on as yet. The committee in charge of refreshments for the evening will be Mr. and Mrs. William Minard, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Heaton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker, Harold Sutton, Raymond Sutton and Oscar Mount. Everyone is asked to attend this most interesting meeting.

Complete Studies In Nine Counties

Ithaca, N. Y., July 30.—Land utilization studies were completed or in progress in 13 counties on July 1, 1936, says Professor T. E. LaMont of the New York State College of Agriculture.

Work has been completed in the following nine counties. Broome, Chemung, Chenango, Genesee, Montgomery, Rensselaer, Steuben, Tioga, and Tompkins. Work is underway in Cortland, Clinton, Monroe, and Schuyler counties.

Studies include a classification of land according to intensity of use and probable use in the future, a study of the economic value of the different land classes and soil classes; and the preparation of suggested road and electric programs for intensive development of land likely to remain permanently in agriculture.

Much Poor Farm Land

Land has been classified and summarized in eleven counties. Professor LaMont says. About 20 per cent is in land class I, which is better adapted to forestry and recreation than to agriculture, about 20 per cent is in land class II, which also is largely unsuited for agriculture. Land in classes III to VII probably will remain permanently in agriculture.

About 38 per cent of the land in these eleven counties is in class III, the next class, IV, has 14 per cent, land classes V, VI, and VII have four per cent. About four per cent is used for residences, commerce, and industry.

In land classes I and II, most of the soils are poorly drained, stony, rough, or have a combination of these disadvantages according to Dr. LaMont. About 60 per cent of the houses that stood in land class I thirty years ago are now gone, falling, or are vacant; and in land class II the same is true of 34 per cent.

"It is desirable," he says, "that all farms that will remain permanently in agriculture be served by hard roads, electric and telephone lines, and other modern services."

More Hard Roads

"For the nine counties where maps of roads and electricity have been prepared and summarized, about 33 per cent of the roads had been hard surfaced or sub-based in 1934. It has been suggested that an additional 23 per cent be improved as hard roads, and 14 per cent might remain as permanent dirt or gravel roads. If land classes I and II are reforested, 24 per cent of the roads will be needed only for forest or recreational travel.

"In these nine counties, about double the present mileage of electric lines is needed to serve all the farms that are likely to remain permanently in agriculture. On the suggested extensions, there are about five potential customers a mile, or enough volume of business to justify the building of these extensions."

Are Giants Scientific?

Troy, N. Y.—Do engineering and the sciences attract the bigger men, or are men who go to college of larger stature than the average of the United States? A study of several hundred applications for entrance received in the last few months at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, where courses in engineering and the sciences are given, shows that twenty-five per cent of the applicants are six feet or more tall. The average height as listed is five feet and ten inches. The average age is 18 years.

The World

It is the average driver, driving the average car, that is responsible for the greater portion of automobile accidents on the road today, according to W. R. Tracy, vice president in charge of sales for the Hudson Motor Car Co. Mr. Tracy called attention to the need of safety inspection before vacation trips and pointed out that a considerable proportion of these accidents might be averted if all cars were given a thorough safety inspection before starting out on vacation trips.

Thomas L. Partlan, automobile mechanics teacher of Walkkill State Prison, recently completed a four-weeks special training course at the General Motors Institute in Flint, Michigan, according to an announcement made yesterday by Major Albert Sobey, director. The course includes the study of car specifications and adjustments; shop methods and procedure; service operations and equipment; and vocational guidance information. The work has been supplemented by visits to the automobile plants and the various research laboratories of General Motors.

Observation of the twentieth anniversary of the organization of Nash Motors Company to be held by Kenosha, brings into emphasis interesting facts of automobile history which have taken place since the summer of 1916. According to the Automobile Manufacturers Association records there were listed in that year 196 concerns engaged in manufacturing passenger cars—electric, steam and gasoline. Some of the concerns produced more than one make of car. The total of the then current makes listed was 205. In all more than 600 motor car making concerns have come and gone since the industry was established. Sixteen only of the 205 designated domestic makes, as of 1916, have survived to this date. Among the makes of cars which were prominent in the market in 1916 but which have fallen by the wayside since (embracing a few which came into being later and succumbed) are included: The Apperson, Owen-Magetic, Roamer, Halladay, Brewster, Briscoe, Case, Chalmers, Cleveland,

One Ulster Motorist Under Suspension

Albany, N. Y., July 29.—The commissioner of motor vehicles revoked or suspended 460 certificates of automobile registration and driving licenses during the two weeks ended July 16. Of these cases 192 will require proof of financial responsibility before applications for new licenses will be considered. There were 134 revocations and 168 suspensions in New York city and vicinity, and 48 revocations and 110 suspensions in other parts of the state.

In the Albany district there were 13 revocations and 83 suspensions. Sixty of the suspensions were for failure to file omnibus bonds, the names of those involved not being published.

Only one Ulster county motorist was among the drivers suffering suspensions, he being Frank Relyea, Accord, who was charged with leaving the scene of an accident without reporting.

"I defy Mr. Roosevelt to produce one Democrat of dignity and standing who really believes in the New Deal. It is nothing but a display of quackery. He has used every stunt of the herb doctor. It is merely a question of how long the people will be content to open their mouths and shut their eyes. When they open their eyes and shut their mouths, then Dr. Roosevelt is done for."—Henry L. Payments Offered To Fence Woodlots

Ithaca, N. Y., July 30.—Farmers who are taking part in the agricultural conservation program may receive payment for building fences to keep cattle out of woodlots and sugar bushes that had previously been pastured, says V. B. Hart, state administrator. Payments range from 15 to 20 cents a rod, depending on the kind of fence used.

Use of fencing to keep cattle out of woodlots and sugar bushes has long been recommended by the farm forestry experts of the New York State College of Agriculture. They say cattle do much damage to young seedlings when they are allowed to graze in the woods; and in time may virtually destroy the woodlot by pasturing. The feed which cattle find in woodlots has little value for milk production.

The foresters say that fencing to keep cattle out also helps to prevent and to control floods and to protect streams and springs which provide the farm water supply. Pastured woodlots soon lose their blanket of undergrowth and ground cover which is needed to retard the melting of snow in the spring and the runoff of rain. They point out that some of the flood damage in the past two years in central New York may be attributed to the destruction of ground cover in farm woodlots.

Mr. Hart says this new forest practice under the agricultural conservation program may bring about the conservation of many miles of fence in New York state; and that it will be of major importance in protecting thousands of acres of forests that grow now on dairy farms.

Northwestern University, which devotes considerable effort to studying crime detection in its specially equipped crime detection laboratory, has recently built a lie-detection machine that indicates when the "patient" is lying by careful simultaneous measurement of his respiration, blood pressure, and perspiration. Many tests have been made on students and these have clearly proved that lies can be detected by this device.

4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 cup crab meat

Pastry Cases
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons fat
1 egg
¾ cup milk
¼ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in fat with knife, add egg and slowly add rest of ingredients. Mix with knife. Pat out dough until it is ¼ inch thick. Cut out 1-inch circles and arrange 4 in muffin pans, placing one in center of pan and three on sides to form little cases. Prick with fork and bake 12 minutes in moderate oven. At The Theatres

Today

Broadway: "High Tension." Here's a "quickie" with quick action and quicker dialogue. The transatlantic cable breaks and the crack underwater man of the firm goes temperamental about it all, causing great distress to the company and to those near and dear to the heart of the big sea diver. The marine shots are excellent and the excitement runs at fever pitch through most of the play. With Glenda Farrell doing the wise-cracking and with Brian Donlevy acting the hero all over the place, this production has its moments of real enjoyment. Norman Foster is also featured in the large cast.

Kingston: "The Mine With the Iron Door" and "Early to Bed." Harold Bell Wright's story of the greed or gold is stirring entertainment on the Kingston screen with Richard Arlen, Cecilia Parker and Henry B. Walthall in the main assignments. David Howard directed. "Early to Bed" is the funniest of the current Boland-Ruggles laugh-getters, the story of a sleep-walker who finds himself in one compromising position after another. Both Charles Ruggles and Mary Boland are exceptionally good in this one.

Orpheum: "Love On a Bet" and "Trail's End." Gene Raymond makes a bet that he can start out from New York in his underwear and no money in the main feature at the Orpheum and land in California with clothes, money and engaged to a beautiful girl. How he does all these things is photographed for your entertainment during the run of "Love On a Bet." Wendy Barrie and Helen Broderick are featured. "Trail's End" is the other attraction with Conway Tearle.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.
Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: "Courageous Avenger" and "Human Cargo." John Mack Brown, football player and All American, plays the hero role in the first picture on display at the Orpheum, the story of a man who lacked neither courage or good looks and who fights against unbelievable odds to win over all. "Human Cargo" is the other full length attraction with Claire Trevor featured.

Twin Flowers in Smart Embroidery

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

May Use Just Scraps for Three Four Flower Towels

PATTERN 5638

When dainty hand towels go in for color, cutwork with applique's a happy medium, and a very easy one. A charming way, too, in which to put colorful scraps to work. The easy cutwork that enhances these twin flower motifs takes shape in no time, and then you've but to add a touch of eyelet or satin stitch for the tiny flowers. Think what a successful shower gift or bazaar donation a set of these dainty towels would make! In pattern 5638 you will find a transfer pattern of four motifs each 5 x 15 inches applique pattern pieces, and the back edges for each motif; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred), to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Home Institute ETIQUETTE OF TRAVEL

Such an attractive young man! He's offering HESSIE a magazine as they sit on the porch at the summer resort. Should she accept?

You're right, HESSIE, to think of the impression you make on fellow guests. However, it's quite correct to accept a magazine offered courteously.

And chat with the stranger? Certainly, if the conversation is kept impersonal. Don't launch into the story of your life, or suggest exchanging names and addresses.

If you don't like the young man's manner, just say politely, but with finality, "No, thank you, I have seen that magazine."

Well-bred people are droll with strangers. When they see some one at a hotel or in a train writing a letter, reading a book or newspaper, they never intrude with idle chat.

But if they sit at the same table in a summer hotel, or are on a long train journey, they don't remain as silent as wax-works. They chat of the scenery, the dining exhibition, the horseback riding or other entertainment at the resort. But only when their advances meet with friendly response.

Snobbery and stiffness make people pity you. But don't be exasperatingly chummy, like the muddy puppy that jumps into laps. Be poised, sure, with the help of our 40-page booklet, ETIQUETTE FOR EVERY DAY. Hit the right tone, say the right word, be at ease with every one. At table, in public, in the social spotlight, know your etiquette.

Send for our booklet, ETIQUETTE FOR EVERY DAY to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 169 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

All are welcome.
Bernie Sutton is visiting her grandmother in Bay Ridge.

David Northrup, of Geneva, Australia, 44, was chasing a fox when he fell on a stump and severed an artery in his neck. Having passed a first-aid examination, the lad applied pressure to stop the flow of blood while his companion went for assistance.

Ambulance officers said the boy had saved his life by his own action.

MODES of the MOMENT

Swagger Fur Coats Are Displayed For Fall

THIS knee-length swagger coat, typical of the fall trend, is designed of trap hidekin worked on the diagonal to fall in soft supple folds. With it goes an off-the-face toque of the same fur and a gray wool dress peppered with white dots. The dress combines a waistband bodice and slender skirt.

STAGGERED SPRINKLING SAVES LAWNS, WATER

Middletown, Ohio (AP)—Water Works Superintendent Earl Gebhart, who has a lawn of his own, didn't order home owners not to sprinkle their lawns during the heat wave.

Instead he asked them to stagger their sprinkling—sprinkle for a half hour, stop for a half hour, then sprinkle again.

The system saved enough water, he said, and saved lawns, too.

"YOU'RE ANOTHER", DRIVER TAUNTS TRAFFIC OFFICER

Lima, Ohio (AP)—Deputy Sheriff R. A. Harshe, doing traffic duty at night, stopped a truck, and reprimanded the driver because his tail light was out.

As he started back to his motorcycle, Harshe heard from the truck driver:

"Just a minute, there. The tail light on your motorcycle is out, too." Harshe hastened to the county garage.

NO GOOD FOOLIN'
AROUND, MARTHY!
nothin' makes salads taste so good as real mayonnaise

"Yes, Marthy, I sure learned my lesson! Those ordinary dressings just don't have that rich, creamy goodness and taste-tampin' flavor you get from Hellmann's!"

And the reason is mighty easy to understand. Hellmann's is made differently. It combines only choice salad oil, freshly-broken eggs, special vinegar and imported spices. No starchy fillers. It's all mayonnaise. And it's double-whipped for its famous creamy smoothness.

If you want to see how much better real mayonnaise makes salads taste... why not get a jar of Hellmann's—today. It costs but a trifle per salad.

Diversified Play At Barmann's Park

For the past four weeks, many children have visited Barmann's Park where numerous and diversified activities have been in progress. Activities, however, are not entirely confined to athletics, as some persons are inclined to believe.

Handicraft and nature study occupy a great deal of the children's time. Some of the boys are engaged in building bird houses. Prize houses, so far, have been built by Vernon Van Etten, Joe and Hugo Schrowang and Jack Rice. The girls have been going on nature hikes and collecting various kinds of leaves which they mount.

During the first week a checker tournament was held with Sohms and Brook coming out ahead. The boys also have a model airplane club, members of which build small planes. Harry Mickle, "Taylor Cub" holds the prize for this branch of work. Finky McElrath's wooden duck also is noted with honorable mention for carving.

The little girls have been making doll clothes and constructing doll villages. They also are keeping scrapbooks which have already captured the attention of the boys who are keeping scrapbooks on the Olympics and Political campaigns. The girls are experts at soap carving and have exhibited some fine models.

In preparation for the "Carnival on Wheels" to be held the week after next, the boys have been building scooters and pushbikes to take part in the races. Mike Osterhoudt, Joe and Hugo Schrowang, Tommy Rixie, Tommy Irwin, Herrick and Krom are training daily for the forthcoming races.

The senior boys engage in horse-shoe pitching, roller ball and softball. Melvin Wolf won the horse-shoe pitching contest that was held a couple of weeks ago. Melvin is in top form and expects to enter the Ulster county tournament and represent Barmann's Park.

A small golf course is in the making and Bill, Fran and Bob Sicker have completed six holes that measure some 350 yards in total length. Tuesday afternoon Sidney Lutkin gave a two hour lecture and exhibition in wrestling to the senior and junior groups. Mr. Lutkin is a former member of Tufts College team and during the course of his lecture he related many of his experiences to the boys.

Another activity at the Park that has created a lot of interest is the "Barmann Park Focus," a newspaper published weekly by the children. Each edition gives a resume of the week's activities at the Park. The first edition came out on Monday. The children do all their own writing and printing. The staff is: Editor, Vince Costello; senior and junior sport editors, Jess Shultz and Harry Mickle; p.e. editor, Duke Freer; joke editor, Jack Rice, columnist, Jim Norton. The staff advisor is the playground director, William Reardon, Jr., son of Patrolman William Reardon.

Barmann's Playground is represented in softball by two Pee Wee squads, which are as follows: Squad "A"—Mike Osterhoudt, Spider Sohms, Vince Brooks, Irv Krom, Nimp Snyder, Joe Schrowang, "Hawk" Herrick, Bill Ball, Billy Vogt, Duke Freer and John Howard; Squad "B"—Bill, Fran and Bob Sicker, Hugo Schrowang, Charles Miller, Billy Freer, Jackie Haber, Vernon Van Etten, Charles North, Joseph Carroll.

The junior squad will play out both junior and senior softball and baseball schedules. This team, of which Barmann's is justly proud, is as follows: Ed. Harry Mickle, catcher, Jack Harknack and Elwood Nichols, 1b., Howie Brooks; 2b., Captain Jess Shultz; pitcher, "Lucky" Finkler; 3b., Jack Rice, 2b., Babe Markle; 4b., Duke Freer; 5b., Jack Kuhn, Jr. Don Weeks. So far these boys have played exceedingly well and have their eyes on the trophy. Last week they routed the Junior Park senior team which was led by "Schellen" Bush, the Knickerbocker. Yesterday they traveled down to Hackett's Park to play the seniors at baseball and won by a forfeit; they have won numerous practice games, however, at their own park.

The directors would welcome any games or old toys that the children could use. They are in need of some checker boards. Any one who has something to give to the children or the directors should bring it to the park on Grand St. or to the Municipal Auditorium.

THE PUBLIC PULSE

Refuses to Vacate Parsonage.

In spite of the strenuous efforts of a faction of the trustees of St. Mark's A. M. E. Church, Foxhall avenue, to evict the Rev. S. B. B. Timmons from the parsonage at 27 Janes avenue, the Rev. Timmons and family refuse to leave the parsonage.

Two private hearings have been held before Judge Culliton with the trustees and Mr. Timmons. Attorney Dorr Munroe represented Mr. Timmons. But no amicable adjustment of the matter has been agreed upon.

Mr. Timmons insists that he is the legally appointed pastor, having received his appointment from Bishop Heard at the regular session of the conference recently held in New York city; and that Mr. Gadsden's appointment, in some unusual way, came later.

Furthermore Mr. Timmons says his official appointment has never been revoked. Besides he insists that he can not be evicted from the parsonage, according to the law of his church, until the bishop reappoints him to another church. Mr. Timmons' ecclesiastical adviser, the Rev. R. C. Miller, concurs in this opinion.

Mr. Timmons has a large number of friends here in the city among both the white and colored people who sympathize with him and are backing him in his fight to hold not only the parsonage but the pastorate of the church this year.

Judge Culliton told the trustees of the church after the two hearings that he had done all he could do in the matter. He said the only thing left for the trustees to do is to employ a lawyer and fight the case in the civil courts. In that case the conference year may possibly end before it is settled.

Mr. Timmons says if the trustees evict him and his family upon the street he will sue both the stewards and trustees of the church for this year's salary. Accordingly some interesting events are in store for St. Mark's Church, particularly the officials, apparently.

Meanwhile Mr. Timmons is going ahead with some renovations and improvements about the parsonage. His many friends among the white people of the city are not forgetting him and his family. Cash and other gifts have cheered the pastor's family in these trying days.

The Rev. Mr. Timmons is a grad-

"Y" Camp Presents Show Tonight

Boys at Camp Preumaker, the Kingston Y. M. C. A. Camp at Glen-ville, have been busy today transplanting a good share of the surrounding forest and field to the camp stage as a suitable setting for the younger boys' Indian Play, "The Quest of the Evil One."

Practically everyone in camp has had a share in the project as those who are not in the cast have worked with Cliff Van Valkenburgh on the costumes and stage properties or scoured the woods with Coach Kias for suitable mosses, ferns, branches, etc., to make the Indian scenes. In addition to the merits of the performance, the audience will undoubtedly acclaim the stage settings.

The second play, "Three Friends," by George Faulkner and produced by arrangement with Longmans Green and Company, is a clever one act melodrama and is well acted by George Wicks, Robert Van Valkenburgh and Donald Hyatt, three of the older campers. Arrangements are being made to get a capacity crowd at the camp stage as many of the boys parents will attend and the public at large. A nominal admission will be charged.

WPA Clothing Bureau Moves To Commissary

The WPA clothing bureau which has been located in the ERB headquarters in the former Palen plant at Broadway, this morning, moved to the quarters occupied by the WPA commissary in the former water board barn, adjoining the city hall. The reason for the move was so that both projects could be housed under one roof. The quarters occupied by the commissary have been painted and there is plenty of room for housing the clothing bureau under the same roof.

Nobody hurts the Townsend movement, or any other American movement, by persecuting its leader.

Varied Cases Before Judge Culliton Here

Motorcycle Officer Henry Barmann made two arrests on Wednesday of auto drivers charged with speeding on the Boulevard. James W. Harper of 110 Franklin street, pleaded guilty to driving 47 miles an hour and was fined $5 by Judge Culliton in police court today.

Anthony Mirabelli of Mt. Vernon, charged with speeding 50 mile an hour on the Boulevard, posted $15 cash bail for his appearance in court on Friday.

Dina Broglio of West Park, charged with passing a red traffic light Wednesday, forfeited $5 cash bail when she failed to appear in answer to the charge.

Peter Lee of New York and Thomas Donahue of Philadelphia both arrested for train riding by Detective Goodsell of the West Shore police force, was sentenced to 5 days each in the county jail.

Weldon Gravitt, a negro of 242 North street, was fined $5 for public intoxication.

J. P. MORGAN SAILS OCEAN ON YACHT CORSAIR TODAY

Glen Cove, N. Y., July 30 (AP)—J. P. Morgan, apparently fully recovered from a recent attack of neuritis, was sailing the Atlantic ocean today in his yacht Corsair on a cruise that probably will end in England.

It is expected the financier, who departed last night, will be able to make his annual trip to Scotland for the opening of the grouse shooting season August 12.

There is a possibility the Corsair may attempt to overtake another yacht in the South Atlantic on which John P. Morgan, grandson and namesake of the financier, recently sailed from Gloucester, Mass., for the African coast.

The Corsair was provisioned and equipped sufficiently for a 23,000 mile trip.

FINAL MEETING TONIGHT OF FIRE CONVENTION COMMITTEE

Impresario For SEC Declines Hero's Role

Dr. Paul P. Gourrich, the man behind the SEC's investment trust inquiry, shuns the spotlight that plays on his hearings.

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington (AP)—The man who wrote the plot and cast the characters for the security and exchange commission's hearings on investment trusts is that compact, calm-looking chap in white linen sitting in a back chair and saying little—the man with bald pate, smooth face and large, alert, dark eyes behind gold-rimmed glasses.

He is Dr. Paul P. Gourrich, research director for SEC, impresario of the capital's No. 1 late summer show.

Dr. Gourrich didn't make a ripple when he arrived in Washington two years ago, and he still doesn't. He prefers it that way. He likes his small, quiet office at SEC. He likes the dull-looking reports piled a foot high on his desk. He just wants to study.

Sees Two Kinds of People
He grew up in a financial family. Before he was out of school he had made such fruitful investments for his father's office that another financial house made him its research director.

He is polite but uncomfortable at mention of his career. He insists there is nothing like talent.

"People are just a very little above or below average," he explains. "But there are two kinds of minds that make the difference above or below—the conclusive and the inconclusive."

The conclusive man wants to know everything he can about what he's doing. The inconclusive one is the kind who thinks he knows agriculture because he can quote market figures on International Harvester.

Study Never Ends

"There are no limits to the study for a man who attempts to handle other people's money in today's complex financial structure. Suppose he buys nitrate stock. He should know all that's going on in Chile. Suppose he buys sugar. What is happening in Cuba?"

"Financial directors are like hens. They are never thorough. They have to lay an egg every day. Men like Chopin, the composer, had other problems. But at least when Chopin finished a nocturne, that nocturne was finished."

Gourrich's philosophy has been picked up in the Wall streets of the world. He has worked in the bourses of Paris, Vienna, London and New York. He made an independent fortune. It is easy to see he enjoyed doing it for himself, but he wore the harness when he handled other people's money. There always was another report to read for safety's sake. He became independent, but his curiosity still was robust. SEC was formed and offered him a post. His friends argued against it. He would have to neglect his own business.

Disregards Friends' Advice

"But who can help the government to formulate a policy that will safeguard investors' money?" he asked. "Can a poor man who has never made much? Who will do it if the rich don't?"

His friends groaned, but he came to Washington. Since January he has had 50 investigators in the financial centers, gathering facts about investment trusts. More facts are being gathered from witnesses at the hearings.

There are hundreds of such trusts, says Dr. Gourrich, and billions have been placed in their hands. There are many varieties, from the rigid one which limits the list of stocks managers can buy with investors' money to the kind which imposes no restrictions.

Dr. Gourrich wants to know whether they serve an economic function, how much they have cost the nation and whether a law can or should be written to restrain such trusts in the interest of greater security for investors.

Gallagher Is Notified

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, July 30 (AP)—Bishop Michael Gallagher of Detroit today was notified he would be received by Pope Pius tomorrow morning. Bishop Schrembs of Cleveland will be given an audience preceding that of Bishop Gallagher.

AGRICULTURE

Winter rye may be sown in early August for late fall pasture, and it may be pastured again in the spring.

For a quarter acre garden, an inch of rainfall is said to equal nearly 7,000 gallons of water, or about 27 tons.

Beekkeepers of New York state have a field meeting and picnic on August 15 at Long Point, Chaumont Bay, in Jefferson county.

Uncle Ab says that the same folks who get hot at 100 in the shade now, will be pretty cool toward zero weather six months from now.

Starting with a simple electric fan for air movement, any degree of air conditioning may be had in the home by adding extra equipment as a person wishes.

An attendance of around 10,000 is expected at the annual potato field day on August 6. The event takes place on the farm of David W. Mote, between Heritage and Gainesville in Wyoming county.

Much has been learned about minerals in the past few years, and Cornell's newest bulletin, E-350, gives the facts on meeting the mineral needs of farm animals. Single copies may be had from the New York College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York.

Yes, business investment is risky—but look at farm investment.

Hedrick Brewers Shut Out Home Leaders By 6-0 For Fifth Straight

Hedrick's Brewers continued on the winning path last night at the Athletic Field and chalked up their fifth straight victory when they shut out the Grunewald Home Leaders by 6-0 behind Joe Brown, who allowed the Leaders only six hits. Brown was aided by excellent support however, while Eddie Scherer, who gave up 10 hits to the Hedricks, was the victim of three costly errors by his mates.

The winner's spirited four run attack in the third coupled with their opening tally in the first put the game on ice. They added another in the fourth to bring their total to six.

Kelder smacked out a home run in the first inning to start the scoring. The barrage in the third started when Rider went to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Rider advanced when Mitchell reached first on an error, and scored on Kelder's hit. Francello then singled in Mitchell and Kelder and tallied himself on a passed ball and infield out. Singles by Quest and P. Komosa accounted for the final run in the fourth.

Game Tonight.
The Berardi A. C. will tangle with the Huron Indians in tonight's City League at the Athletic Field. The boys from Stone Ridge have failed to win a game so far in the second half. Julius Chick will probably get the call for the Berardis while his opponent will be Charlie Neff.

Pick Afternoon for Heavy Title Fight

James J. Braddock, the heavyweight champion, and his challenger, Max Schmeling, may fight for the title on Saturday afternoon, September 26. James J. Johnston, Garden promoter, and Joe Gould, manager of the champion, held a conference yesterday afternoon and agreed upon the tentative date. Of course, the decision of an afternoon date will have to be approved by the State Athletic Commission. However, it is believed that the solemn will place the fight on the 26th as the date agreed upon by the promoter and manager.

If the afternoon program is sanctioned by the commission it will be the first time that a heavyweight championship match was decided in the afternoon since Jack Dempsey beat Walter Senior of Los Angeles and John H. Doeg of Rumson, N. J., before he eliminated Parker 6-4, 0-6, 8-5. Parker missed a passing shot at his own match point in the twelfth game and Wood was never headed.

Wood faced John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Texas, today. McDiarmid eliminated Barney Welsh of Rockville, Md., 6-4, 6-2.

Others to gain the semi-finals were Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., defending champion, who defeated Hal Surface, 6-1, 4-6, 9-7, and Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, who won 8-6, 6-2 over Wayne Sabin of Portland, Ore.

and Georges Carpentier met in their memorable battle at Doyle's Thirty Acres, on the afternoon of July 2, 1921.

Messrs. Johnston and Gould have strong hopes that the afternoon idea will meet with general approval.

Ailing Athletes Confined To Their Quarters as Bad Weather Continues

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Berlin, July 29 (AP)—The American Olympic team will need an ambulance unless developments in all training fronts take a quick turn for the better.

Not of the athletes' ailments are a minor character, featuring a chronic cold and sore throat, but there is a watering of the eyes for every athlete in the Olympic village as the result of the wet, chilly weather.

More than a hundred of the American men and boys—nearly one-third of the team—have been given medical treatment since arriving. The men and athletes, including 300, and Jack Torrance's sore shoulder, and the women's swimming team, have been confined to their quarters.

During the 1922 gold medal event in Olympic experience, the team's aquatic team has been hospitalized by the continued rain.

Who has a cold, and Ann Wilson of Chisholm, Minn., who has a cold, and who has been hospitalized by the continued rain.

There is still time for recuperation. The American athletes may be the better for it.

Po'keepsie Winners On Friday's Program To Box for Braddock

Poughkeepsie, July 29 (Special)—An added incentive has been given the boxers in this week's American Legion boxing show at Woodcliff Park, here, Friday night for most of the winners will box in a special exhibition show to be held next Monday night at the Loch Sheldrake camp of Jimmy Braddock, world's heavyweight champion.

Braddock, himself, will referee the bouts, which will include many of the best amateurs in the Hudson valley among the contestants.

Harry Porter, the sturdy Millbrook negro middleweight, will get another chance at Joe Furlin, Middletown's hard-hitting 150-pounder in the top fight of this week's show. Porter won his chance against Furlin by knocking out Hank Jackowski, of Poughkeepsie, in last week's show and is anxious to get another shot at Furlin who stopped him in a feature bout three weeks ago.

Since the cards during the last few weeks have been crowded with middleweights, an elimination tournament has been organized in that class. In addition to Furlin and Porter, Bill Guski, of the Staatsburg CCC camp, and Doyle Watson, of West Point, will meet in a three-rounder.

Guski knocked out Frank Corcello, of Newburgh, last week while Watson scored a knockout over Paul Pelechane, of Wappingers Falls, the quickest victory of the evening.

Two other well-known amateurs on the card are Bill Becker, Newburgh 140-pounder, who last week scored the cleanest knockout of the evening over Johnny Badami, of Poughkeepsie, and Jackie Filkins, of West Point. Filkins has a record of four straight wins and last week challenged Buddy McKenna, the winner of the Steele-McKenna feature bout.

Three newcomers from the CCC camp school directed by Promoter Ben Emblinger will make their debut on the card. They are: Johnny Ray, 130 pounds; Frank Messian, 130, and Nathan Slavin, 135. All three are capable fighters and are anxious to win places on the team which will go to Loch Sheldrake.

The entire card for this week's show has not yet been completed but with the Porter-Furlin five-rounder heading it and many other promising fighters eagerly seeking bouts on the card it should be one of the best yet presented by the Legion.

Wood Eliminates Frank Parker From Sea Bright Tennis

Sea Bright, N. J., July 29 (AP)—Sidney Wood of New York was back in the big time tennis picture today, but only after he had been "scared to death."

Discussing his victory over Frank Parker of Spring Lake, N. J., yesterday in the 49th annual Sea Bright invitation tournament, Wood said to Donald Budge:

"I was scared to death that third set. It was the first time I was scared in tournament play since I was a kid."

Wood had beaten Walter Senior of Los Angeles and John H. Doeg of Rumson, N. J., before he eliminated Parker 6-4, 0-6, 8-5. Parker missed a passing shot at his own match point in the twelfth game and Wood was never headed.

Wood faced John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Texas, today. McDiarmid eliminated Barney Welsh of Rockville, Md., 6-4, 6-2.

Wall Wins Feature On Catskill Card, Johnny Blaine There

At the outdoor boxing bouts at Salisbury Casino arena, Catskill, Wednesday night, Joe Wall, 129, who recently represented the United States at the amateur scrags in London, England, outpointed Johnny Gardiner, 121, Albany in five rounds. A large attendance saw the scrap, in which many Kingston fans.

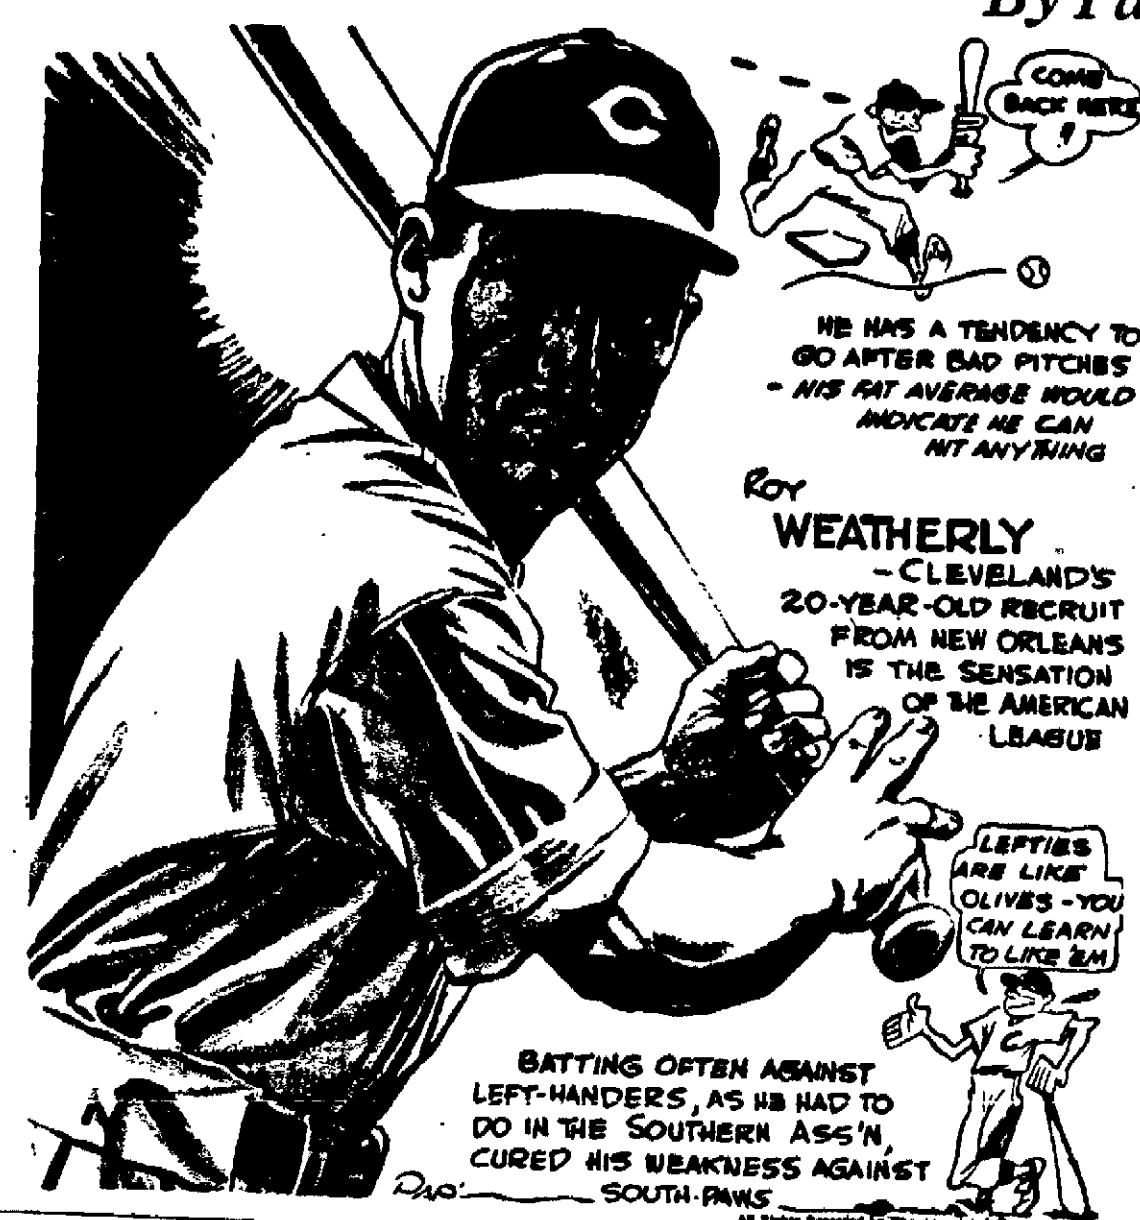

Among those who patronized the scrags was Johnny Blaine, former National Guard heavyweight, and Mrs. Blaine. Johnny left Kingston four or five years ago to box in the south where he was a successful fighter. He is visiting in Kingston now.

In the semi-final Jimmy Williams, 144, New York, outpointed Bill Elacqua, 145, Albany. Johnny Blaine, 145, New York, in low then two minutes of the fifth round outpointed Mike Accetto, 142, Mechanicville, five rounds.

Bill Singer of Kingston was the referee, and Sam J. Blinn, also of Kingston, the announcer.

Next Wednesday night another star card will be arranged by Ben Becker, boxing director of the upstate amateurs, in Catskill.

Jahncke Is Dropped From Olympic Board, Brundage Is Successor

Berlin, July 30 (AP)—Ernest Lee Jahncke of New Orleans was ousted from the International Olympic committee today and Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, was elected in his place.

Jahncke, who was assistant secretary of the navy during the administration of President Hoover, was dropped on the technical grounds that he failed to attend two consecutive meetings of the international committee.

The ouster of the New Orleans sportsman, well known in racing circles, came several months after he opposed the United States participation in the Olympic games because they were to be held in Germany.

The other American membership on the committee, formerly held by the late Brigadier General Charles A. Sherrill of New York, was not filled at today's meeting. The leading candidates for the post are Gustavus T. Kirby, New York lawyer and treasurer of the American Olympic committee, and Judge Murray Hulbert, of New York, a former president of the A. A. U.

Jahncke did not communicate his resignation formally to the international committee, but there was no doubt he intended that his opposition to holding the Olympic games here meant his withdrawal from any connection with the committee.

The committee decided to defer election of Sherrill's successor out of deference to the memory of the American who served fourteen years on the committee.

Brundage, a former all-around champion and one-time Olympian has been a dominant figure in amateur sport for the past decade. He was president of the American committee for the 1932 Olympic games held at Los Angeles, and was president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States six successive years. He retired from office at the end of 1934.

He was elected to the A. A. U. presidency again last December at the annual meeting where he led a successful fight against an attempt to keep the United States out of the Olympic games.

Braddock In Shape Now Says Manager

Champ Boxed Eight Hard Rounds Against Tough Spartan Yesterday at Loch Sheldrake Camp—Could Step In With Schmeling Now Joe Gould Says

Jim Braddock, the heavyweight champion, is fighting himself into great shape for his coming bout with Max Schmeling, at his Loch Sheldrake camp. Fight is the right word, for every time the big Irishman steps in there with a sparring partner it is nothing short of a real scrap.

The champ boxed eight rounds yesterday with George Nicholson, the Harlem heavy; Sol Flaum, West New York brawler, and Bill Ivey, the Tulane University student. Following the instructions of Joe Gould, manager of the heavyweight box, to go in there and give Braddock a rough time of it, the trio emerged after taking an awful licking, even if they did succeed in nicking the champ with some terrific shots.

It is Gould's intention to have Braddock box 15 rounds on one day before the end of the week.

"I have selected a rough gang of sparring mates for Jim and I do not want any weak members in the camp," said Gould as he watched his big charge tear through two of his mates. "Jim always works himself into proper fettle and this campaign is going to be rougher than ever," the little manager added.

Charles Manners, the Pittsburgh heavyweight will join the staff tomorrow and Jerry Johnson, the Brooklyn Swede, will report the early part of next week. Jack McCarthy, the Boston heavyweight and chief of Jim's staff, will also arrive to work with Jim. Jack is a smart old-limer and is a great help to my Jimmy.

"The champion is in grand shape right now. As a matter of fact he would step in there right now with that Schmeling guy, but wait until you see our Spang when he faces Mazzo for the title."

Heretofore started on the mound for Port Ewen but retired in favor of Niles with the score 8-2 against him. The lead from across the creek tied the score at 8-all in the sixth inning but it was not to be their night, because the Lutherans scored three runs in the last inning to win the game. Paul and Kuhlman formed the battery for the Lutherans.

The Redeemers continued to loom as a threat to the league leaders by posting out a 10-4 decision over Ulster Park. Eddie Beck and Mackey formed the battery for the Redeemers.

Terrymen Belt Chicago Cubs, 7-2; Yanks Take Detroit, Lou Hits 32nd

(By The Associated Press)

The National League's eastern forces, a collective thorn in the side of Bill Terry and his New York Giants for years, have turned over a new leaf.

Instead of standing in the Giants' way—a habit that more than once has cost the New Yorkers the pennant—the eastern contingent is helping the Terrymen's current climb by making life miserable for the western leaders—the Cubs, Cardinals and Pirates.

In the past, the Phillies, Dodgers and Bees usually were easy pickings for the westerners, and then, up against the Giants, turned on the heat to whip the New Yorkers and their hopes.

Things have been different since the last western trip, when the Giants, after blowing up and sinking out of the first division began the climb back.

Carried over since the return home, the combined eastern assault has shot the Giants securely into fourth and made the New Yorkers a red-hot threat to the Cards in second.

The Giants themselves have been leading the way. Fresh from a two-out-of-three edge over the Cardinals, and three-out-of-four over the Reds, Terry and his boys belted out a 7-2 victory over the Cubs yesterday to pull up nearer the Gas House Gang and the league leaders.

Burgess Whitehead had four hits to lead the way, as the Giants clubbed Bill Lee, who shut them out in their last two meetings.

The Dodgers handed the Cards their worst beating of the year, 22-7, in the opener of a doubleheader, and then fell short with a late-inning rally to lose the nightcap, 5-4. Ducky Medwick belted two homers to save the St. Louis club from complete humiliation.

The Bees also split, losing the nightcap to the Pirates, 10-4, after Danny MacFayden's nine-hit pitching won the first game 4-1.

The Yankees teed off against Detroit pitching for the second straight day, and with Lou Gehrig poling his 32nd homer of the season, slugged out a 13-3 triumph.

Although the Yankee victory sank the Tigers out of the first division, it didn't stop the American League lead of "Murderer" Row" from being clipped to 8½ games by the twin victory of the second place Indians over the Washington Senators, 11-6 and 6-5.

The Red Sox found Elton Hosssett's slants too tough to solve and wound up on the short end of a 3-2 count against the Browns.

The White Sox, with Sugar Cain pitching tight ball in the pinches against his old mates, sent the Athletics into the cellar and climbed back into fourth place themselves with a 7-5 edge.

A Radio Play for Hay Fever Sufferers

Albany, July 30 (Special)—Hay fever sufferers will be given more advice on how to obtain relief from the annual affliction when the Health Hunters of the State Department of Health will broadcast next week over various stations in the state a play on ragweed as the principal cause of hay fever, the department announced today.

During the past two weeks the department has received hundreds of requests for information on how sufferers may find relief during the period when the malady is at its height from the middle of August until the first fall frosts. It is estimated that about 55 per cent of all hay fever is caused by ragweed.

Because of the widespread interest, a special radio play entitled "Rags—Weeds—and Ragweed" has been prepared in order to give radio listeners data on the subject. The stations, time and places where these broadcasts will be made next week are as follows:

Monday: WMFJ, Plattsburg, 11:45 a. m.; WHDL, Olean, 1:15 p. m.; WFAS, White Plains, 1:45 p. m.; WGY, Schenectady, also W2XAD, Schenectady, short wave, 2:30 p. m.; WIBX, Utica, 5:30 p. m.

Tuesday: WNBZ, Saranac Lake, 5:45 p. m.; WESG, Elmira, 6:45 p. m.; WNEF, Binghamton, 9:15 p. m. Wednesday: WGGB, Freeport, 8 p. m.

Thursday: WOKO, Albany, 11:30 a. m.; WCAD, Canton, 12:45 p. m.; WMBO, Auburn, 2:45 p. m.; WFBL, Syracuse, 4 p. m.

Friday: WQNY, Chester, 8:30 a. m.; WABY, Albany, 11:45 a. m.; WOCL, Jamestown, 11:45 a. m. Saturday: WKBW, 12:45 p. m.

Two weeks ago the department announced the publication of a new folder on the subject, "Eradicate Ragweed, a Cause of Hay Fever," and so far nearly 4,000 free copies have been distributed in this state. Radio listeners will be offered copies of this new folder. It points out sections of New York state relatively free from the weed where sufferers may find a haven.

Next week's play will have its usual weekly characters of the imaginary village of Utopia. These players, during the unfolding of the story, will tell what persons in any community, relatively free from ragweed, can do to cooperate in reducing the number of hay fever cases, making the community and state healthier and happier places in which to live.

All but 17 of the 148 engineering graduates of Lehigh University this spring have been placed in jobs.

Normal Operations At Barb Wire Plant

Steering, Ill., July 30 (AP)—Operations were resumed under normal conditions today at the Northwestern Barb Wire Company after a settlement deemed mutually satisfactory to employer and employees was reached in the first strike resulting from a nationwide industrial unionization campaign.

After a three-week walkout of about 800 of the company's 1,150 employees, the firm agreed yesterday to meet and deal with representatives of Local 63, Amalgamated Steel, Iron and Tin workers, as representatives for collective bargaining on wages, hours and working conditions, pay a ten per cent flat wage increase, and rehire strikers without discrimination as rapidly as production warrants.

W. G. Hume, assistant to the president of the firm, said he was satisfied with the outcome.

Laurence J. Kelly, 22-year-old president of the union local, which was organized after the strike started, said the union was content with the concessions.

William Sneed, associated with John L. Lewis, leader in the movement for unionization by industries, and Joseph Derroncourt of Springfield, Ill., president of District No. 4 of the United Mine Workers, remained here to watch developments. Lewis is chief of the U. M. W.

GROUP PLAYERS ENTERTAIN AT COLONY CLUB SUNDAY

Last Sunday evening Mr. Neugold of the Colony Club invited the Group Players as his guests of honor to a midnight party at his luxurious Colony Club. The Players were warmly received and entertained graciously. Glenn Carroll sang and accompanied himself. Alfred Rappelt did his Maurice Chevalier imitation. Arthur Crafter did his "Shootin' High" tap routine and Nicholas Rosse recited sections from Winterset.

Mr. Rosse also found the next morning that a call for him had come through asking him to take over his role in Winterset again for a week in summer stock. This makes it necessary for him to leave the cast of the Milky Way today after the performance. For this reason Group Players have arranged to bring back George Mathews, who played in Three Men on a Horse, to take over Mr. Rosse's part.

Mr. Rosse will return to play District Attorney Flint in The Night of January 16.

Residents of Florida's lower West Coast feared a return of the tropical storm which swept the state's southern tip and reached near-hurricane proportions, but did little damage in the affected area. Here is a scene in Bayshore Park as the wind blew nearly 40 miles an hour. It was 60 miles farther south. (Associated Press Photo)
